COMMERCE OF NEW YORK.

(From the "S. C. Journal of Commerce.")

We have compiled our usual monthly summary of the commerce of this port for April. The foreign imports for the month show a further decline, the total being but little more than half the amount for the corresponding period of either of the previous two years. This is a far greater decline than was anticipated, and will attract general attention on both sides of the Atlantic. It will be seen that the entries of free goods, chiefly tea and coffee, have been unusually large. The total of all descriptions of imports landed at New York in the month of April is $10,465,263 less than for April, 1857, and $888,810 less than for April, 1856. It is $2,061,560 larger, however, than the total for April, 1855, which was a very dull month in this trade. We annex a comparison for three years:
